

Information on certified organizations

The Certification Authority keeps records of all certified organizations, holders of valid certificates, the organizations whose certificate has been withdrawn and whose certification has expired.

Each certificate contains the name and address of the certified organization, including the list of all locations under the certification, if located at a different address, the certification standard, the scope of the certificate, and the date of issue, a registration number and the validity of the certificate. In addition to the logo of the certification authority, the certified organization can also place its logo on the certificate.

The Certification Authority will provide all non-confidential information on certified organizations to any interested party upon request. The contact person is the Head of the Certification Authority.
