

Protect your valuable information effectively

TUV USA, INC. – Certification of Information Security Management System according to ISO/IEC 27001

Information is a central part of modern life; society depends increasingly on it. Responsible use of information is more important than ever, as is careful consideration of factors including confidentiality, availability and integrity. The loss or manipulation of information can cause considerable damage.

To counteract these risks, a comprehensive Information Security Management System (ISMS), which also includes statutory, regulatory and contractual arrangements, is recommended.

The criteria for construction, implementation, operation, monitoring and continuous improvement of a documented ISMS defines the standard ISO / IEC 27001. TUV NORD CERT provides a certification to this standard, the confirmation that the requirements are implemented effectively for the efficient protection of valuable information.

Target groups for certification

The certification is aimed at organizations and companies from all industries, from manufacturing to retail and to service providers and suppliers. In addition, TUV USA provides internal or external service providers of IT services with a certification according to ISO / IEC 20000-1, for a powerful IT service management program.

Benefits of certification

Companies and organizations benefit from a certification according to ISO / IEC 27001 in a number of ways:

- Weaknesses in the handling of information are revealed
- Employees are sensitized to safety issues and risk awareness increases
- Systematic handling of information increases security
- Risks are minimized
- The certification of ISMS by a recognized certification body

Requirements for Certification

Requirements for certification are the introduction of a risk management system with identification, analysis, evaluation and management of the risks as well as creating a Statement of Applicability.

Our know-how for your success
