

Allergen Testing

Need Of the Hour

It is now mandatory for all food industries to not only be allergen aware but also communicate the same to their consumers. Allergen Awareness is of priority and should be strictly implemented by all to provide safe and healthy food to consumers globally.

In most production lines, more than one product is produced which may result in unintended contaminations with allergens. To protect consumers and to assure an adequate labelling, an HACCP concept including reliable on-site allergen analyses must be implemented in all food production industries.

At TUV India Food Testing Laboratory, we take the lead in guaranteeing allergen safety. Utilizing cutting-edge methods approved by AOAC (Association of Official Agricultural Chemists) such as ELISA (Enzyme-Linked Immunosorbent Assay) and lateral flow tests, we cover an extensive array of allergens. Our commitment to employing ELISA methodology ensures precision and reliability in our analyses.

Our laboratory delivers swift and precise results, enabling our clients to meet their stringent deadlines while maintaining the highest standards of allergen safety.
