

Course Features

New technologies and the increasing number of functions within products mean that manufacturers have to develop more and more safety-relevant systems. This not only leads to an increase in the number of electronic components the components and systems themselves are more complex and requirements as to their safety are becoming more stringent. Safety standard ISO 26262 stipulates that organizations must ensure that persons entrusted with tasks related to functional safety have a sufficient level of competence and also that they are suit-ably qualified. Since the publication of ISO 26262, there-fore, employers have been urgently seeking trained and qualified personnel who can demonstrate their competence and professionalism
